Bee Love

Written &
Illustrated by:

Dedicated to the love present at the heart of creation.

Written and Illustrated by: Karen Justice
Book Layout by: Amy Regenstein

Published by: The Big Happy Development Inc., 2019

For more insight and activities, visit us at:

www.KarenJustice.com

Bee Love
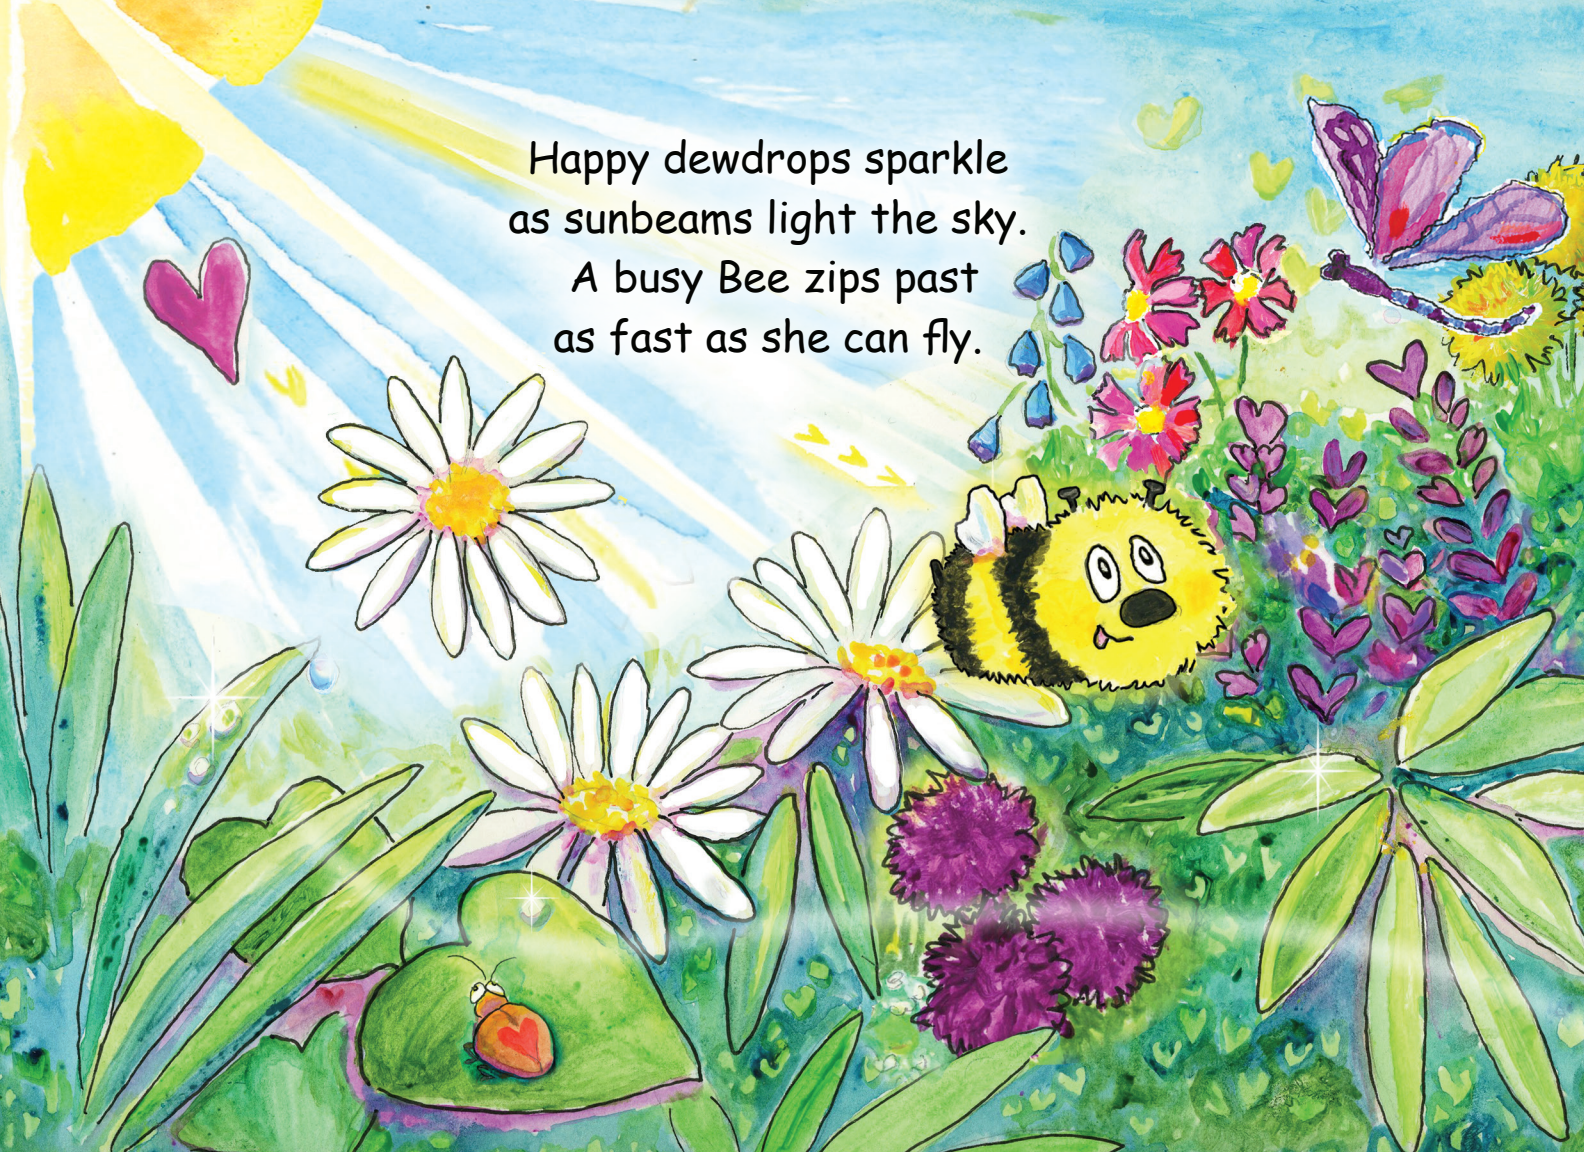

Written &
Illustrated by:

Karen Justice

Happy dewdrops sparkle
as sunbeams light the sky.
A busy Bee zips past
as fast as she can fly.

Flowers lift their faces
towards the buzzing sound,
as her colony flies
to berry fields they've found.

Friends do their waggle dance,
some loop around and dive,
buzz, buzzing happily,
bee bopping to their hive.

Busy Bee goes to work,
nectar is so yummy!
She gathers all she can,
rubs pollen on her tummy.

Love

Covered in sparkly dust,
she builds a snuggle nest.
She's been working so hard,
she needs a tiny rest.

Suddenly wet droplets
land on her yellow fuzz.
She coughs, tumbling downward, wondering what that was.

Later three gnomes find her.
She's somehow still alive.
They gently lift her on a leaf,
carry her to the hive.

But the hive is empty,
all the others are dead.
The gnomes trudge on homeward, they'll heal Bee there instead.

Now on a comfy bed,
she's coughing while they work.
They feed her a plant brew.
She wakes with a small jerk.

The gnomes pat her fondly.
"Fly away now!", they say.
She cries, "Bad is out there!
I'm scared! I want to stay!"

"Don't be afraid wee one.
You're God's gift from above.
His flowers need your help,
to bring forth fruits of love."

The Bee did love flowers.
So, she'd do what she could.
She would be a 'Do Bee'
and a 'Do Bee' does good.

BUZZ Happy!

Wild Things Happen in Alligator Alley!

The Everglades, Ten Thousand Islands and the Gulf of Mexico form one of the most unique environments on the planet and are a place of wonder. The area hangs precariously perched on the edge of our day-to-day world. It contains the largest bird sanctuary in the world. Over 700 species of fish, birds, mammals, amphibians and reptiles find shelter there. This refuge is a liquid landscape–a flowing river of grass. It's the stuff of legend and home to a cast of extremely colorful characters.

In this series you'll be introduced to Gators asleep in their Gator holes, bright pink Spoonbills, the Florida Manatee, Cuban Tree Frogs, Panthers and Mermaids. Behind every face is a heart. Each character who lives here has their own 'big story' and those stories interact. Each story deserves a happy ending. This series is a fun-filled work of heart.

For insights and activities, visit The Big Happy Adventure Club: www.KarenJustice.com

Thank you for buying this book. I'm a self-published author so your help in getting the word out about my series would be so very much appreciated.

Karen Justice

Visit www.KarenJustice.com and check out The Big Happy Adventure Club for children.